DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 12, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Spinner (US 4,440,464).

Regarding claim 1, Spinner discloses an electrical connector comprising:

a plug including a threaded sleeve (14), the threaded sleeve including an external thread having at least one threadless area (18); and a socket connectable to the plug and including a union nut (30), the union nut including an internal thread (28) configured for threaded engagement with the external thread of the plug;
wherein the internal thread of the union nut is configured to be received by the at least one threadless area and tightened onto the external thread.

Regarding claim 12, Spinner discloses the external thread includes a respective individual first thread on each side of the at least one threadless area, the individual first threads being aligned with each other.

Regarding claim 16, Spinner discloses an electrical connector comprising:

a plug including a threaded sleeve (14), the threaded sleeve including an external thread having at least one threadless area (18); and

a socket connectable to the plug and including a union nut (30), the union nut including an internal thread configured for threaded engagement with the external thread of the plug, the internal thread not having a threadless area.

3. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Majors (US 6,135,800).

Majors discloses an electrical connector comprising:

a plug including a threaded sleeve, the threaded sleeve including an external thread (114) not having a threadless area; and a socket connectable to the plug and including a union nut (104), the union nut including an internal thread (150) configured for threaded engagement with the external thread of the plug, the internal thread having at least one threadless area (158).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Spinner (US 4,440,464).

Spinner discloses an electrical connector comprising:

a plug including a threaded sleeve (14), the threaded sleeve including an external thread having at least one threadless area (18); and

a socket (30) connectable to the plug, the socket including an internal thread (28) configured for threaded engagement with the external thread of the plug;

wherein the internal thread of the socket is configured to receive the at least one threadless area for tightening the external thread onto the internal thread.

Spinner substantially disclosed the claimed invention except for the socket is being disposed in a stationary housing. Spinner discloses the plug is a stationary. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the socket being stationary, since it has been held that a mere reversal of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. In re Einstein, 8 USPQ 167.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-11, 13-15, 19-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claims 2-11 and 19-20, the prior art of record fails to teach the plurality thread areas of the internal thread are matching with the plurality threadless areas of the external thread.

Regarding claims 13-15, the prior art of record fails to teach the individual first and second threads each have a respective chamfer at a start of the respective thread.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
